Majority Of Business Owners Unaware Of Their Website's Security

In SB Authority Market Survey, Only 44% Fear a CYBER-ATTACK

NEW YORK, June 5, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Newtek Business Services, (NASDAQ: NEWT), The Small Business Authority[®], with a portfolio of over 100,000 business accounts, announced today the findings of its SB Authority Market Sentiment Survey, a monthly window into the concerns of independent business owners. Based on a poll of over 2,100 respondents, one of the key findings from the May survey is 56% of business owners do not have a fear of cyber-attacks. 40% of respondents have scanned their website for security vulnerabilities in the last 12 months. Of the remaining, 35% have not and 25% were not sure if they scanned for vulnerabilities in the last 12 months.

The full May 2013 results showed the following:

Poll Question	Poll Answer	Percentage
Do you have a fear of cyber-attacks?	Yes	44%
	No	56%
Has your website been scanned for security vulnerabilities in the last 12 months?	Yes	40%
	No	35%
	Not Sure	25%

Barry Sloane, Chairman, President and CEO of The Small Business Authority[®] commented, "Despite the fact that cyber-attacks and the threat of this activity have grown in recent years within the U.S. economy, a majority of our small business owners are still not afraid. The concept of fear can be viewed in two ways: the actual fear of being attacked, or the mere recognition that attacks are possible. There is an air of complacency with business owners who think cyber-attacks will not happen or affect them. Organizations or entrepreneurs that have experienced a cyber-attack run the risk of decimation and elimination. The Small Business Authority[®] representing independent business owners across the United States, encourages our clientele and the business community to ensure their systems, software, hardware and confidential customer information are fully protected by being hosted in a level-four data center with the highest levels of firewalls and cyber-security."
